Annie Van Claims She Is 16 Years Old

AND THE CHARGE OF ASSAULT

With Intent to Commit Hape Will Not Hold-Shu Toki Captain Johnson She Was 13.

Owing to unfavorable developments n the case Judge Haggerty was comwiled to dismiss the charge of assault with intent to commit rape brought gainst Fred Hoch in police court yesterday. The charge was made under the statute, which makes the taking of improper liberties with the person of a ! giri under 14 years old, a crimmal smault. Annie Van, the girl alleged to have been assaulted by the defendant, stated to Captain Johnson when he complaint was made against Hoch hat she was 13 years old, but when the case was brought in court she swore that she was 16. Pending the hearing of the case in court she went live with a respectable family on Hartlett street and when she testified in court contrary to her statement to Captain Johnson, the woman with som she was living was so indignant that she refused to keep the girl longer and turned her over to her mother, who now has a charge pending against her in police court for keeping a house of illfame. Hook has been making his home with Mrs. Van for some time and it is thought the girl had been natructed to mate bornige in court at Friedericke Bonzbeite, as administratrix of the estate of the late Christian Bonzheim, filed a declaration with the clerk of the circuit court yesterday, as the beginning of a sun against the Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad company in a pies of trespass on the case. The suit is brought to recover damages to the extent of $10,000 for the deat her husband, Christian Bonz-m, who was killed at the south yards March 29 last. The deceased was employed by the can pany as a car repairer and on the day of his death he was engaged in repairing a freight car which was standing on a belt track, he being under the car for that purpose. The complainant avers that freight cars were switched on the beit track and uncoupled from the locomotive. The cars ran down the track unattended by a brakeman or any person to give a signal of warn-The cars bunted against the car under which Bonzhein was working and he was run over, crushed and mortally wounded. FOUND HIS HORSE.

But Perrin Causes the Arrest of Harvey Parsons for Larceny.

Liveryman Perrin of Lowell came to the city yesterday and reported to the sheriff that he let one of his rigs on Saturday to a man who gave his name as Harvey Parsons and that he had since seen nothing of the man or rig. He feared the rig had been stolen. A description of the man and rig was given to the sheriff's force and to the police department, with instructions to arrest Parsons if he could be found. Last night at 6:40 Policeman Sturges saw what he supposed to be the man and rig on Straight street and ordered the driver to stop. The man whipped up his horse and the officer gave chase and caught him before he had gone two blocks. The man acted piciously when the officer ques-ied him regarding his business and residence and told conflicting stories. He arrested the man and took him to police headquarters. At the station he mally admitted to Detectives Smith and Darr that he bired the rig of Perrin, and that he had been on a drunk. He said he did not intend to steal the horse. He was locked up in jail and the man and horse were identified by Perrin, who called at the jail.

Filed His Bond, Justice Kline of Algoma township filed an affidavit and bond on appeal with the clerk of the circuit court yesterday, in the case of Walter A. Wood Mowing and Reaping Machine complaintiff was given a judgment for $100 from which the defendant takes an appeal to the eremit court.

Police Court Notes. The hearing of a charge against Wil-Ham Coone i for keeping his saloon open on Sunday was put over again in police court yesterday until Septem-ber 19.

Frank Sullivan, John Cavanaugh and John Reilly were each assessed $3 and costs in police court yesterday morning for breach of the peace. They were arrested Sunday,

The examination of George Thompson and Phillip Cummings on a charge of larceny from the person was ad-journed until September 7. They were arrested a few days ago for stealing a gold watch from a White Cloud citie sen while he was visiting in the city soil under the influence of liquor.

I then convealed myself in the left, armed with a long hallow reed; while my comanions, provided with elects and masks, hid themselves in the grove in which the church was situated. That night the church was packed and religious fervor reached its climas. The preacher stopped in the middle of his exhortation. The walls blazed forth with borroes traced in burning, snaky outlines. There was a convulsive gasp, a scream from 200 throats and a stampede. The preacher went through a window, and, though a rheumatic, outran all his parishioners. Then my ghostly confederates appeared, uttering dismal grouns. Scores of the terrified blacks, unable to run, lay down and groaned with an agony of fear. The joke was too good to keep. My father heard of it. He was a Presbyterian divine and did not believe in trifling with secred things. It is said that he laughs best who laughs last, and the colored people came in on the subsequent cachination.-Interview in St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

How They Were Married.

The wife of a popular preacher says that a fine looking young farmer, roughly dressel, with an ox whip in his hand, knocked at the door and was shown into the parlor. There he laid his whip upon the muntelplace and proceeded to make known bisogrami,

"I say purson," he began, with some embarrassment, "if I was to figger roun today till I got things fixed to my notion, could I come up here long with a girl an git married?"

Made Up Their Quarrel.

A hardware store on Main street, Manayunk, is the headquarters of several old citizens, who congregate daily to gossip politics, ancient history, and tell stories of their individual trials and troubles before they retired from active business life. Jokes and tricks, innocent and harmful, are constantly practiced on each other, much to the amuse. ment of the purchasers of nails, paint and putty. About thirty years ago Ben Davis and Joe Winpenny differed over a statement made by the latter. Davis. who doubted the story, requested Winpenny to put it in writing before he would believe the yarn. Winpenny, who was angry that his veracity could be questioned by any present, resented the charge and left the store, with a vow never to speak to Davis until he asked his pardon. Yesterday Davis relented after the long space of time and they shook hands over the wide chasm. Tears were in the eyes of the old vets present at the reunion.-Philadelphia Record.

Something New in Shears at Last. It is not often that an apparently useful innovation in the art of scissor or shear manufacture is beard of, and doubtless for that reason we have become apt to consider these indispensable adjuncts to civilization as probably unimprovable instruments. In a new kind of shears which has been brought in the market by an ingenious mechanician, the cutting blades are connected by a capsule, in which a simple lever movement, on the closing of the instrument, causes the one blade to be drawn under the other. The lower cheek then sets as a support and the upper cheek as a knife, which severs the object on the support. Compared with the orthodox scissors a much greater efficiency is claimed for the new form of shears .-

titute of a single line of beauty. We are continually lecturing the ladies on the subject of dress, yet they have preserved some of the beauties and comforts of ancient costumes, while we have sacrificed them all and are as proud of it as an Indian squaw who has traded a buffalo robe for a secondhand pair of soldier pants. Even the extravagances of male costumes during the Middle Ages were infinitely preferable to the stupid garments of the present. We will probably never return to the of the crusaders, but the baggy trousers, the spiketailed coat and the idiotic "plug" cannot last forever.
